

materials

Identify and recommend sources of high quality, reliable, and environmentally preferable energy to support research and education while working with the campus community to improve efficiency and reduce demand.

historic municipal solid waste by source

2015 on-campus recycling

In FY2015, the Institute diverted 26 percent of its waste from the landfill from on-campus recycling, with an additional 39 percent of campus waste processed for recycling after leaving campus. Additionally, the Institute began a comprehensive review of its waste management and recycling practices to address trends in the industry, which will be rolled out in FY2016.